"Okay, I understand roughly what the project is, and where it's placed within the business, but ….

… why?"

* why focus any effort here?

Oil is important because changes in its chemistry usually mean something's not quite right within the component.

* things being "not quite right" within a component usually means money lost